Dr. Jerzy Zaborski
Sokrateion University,
Box 2238,
Carefree, Arizona. 85331.

Dear Jerzy:

You will be surprised to hear from me, no doubt. I hope this letter reaches you and that your initiatives in education are having some success.

When you lef t here in 1978 you expressed intention of incorporating some of the body of thought of Technocracy in a curriculum, if possible.

I would be interested in learning if you have been able to do this, to what degree and of what substance. We are, of course, always interested in acquiring educational material and/or of assisting in the preparation of such material.

I myself am thinking of establishing an Institute for Technocratic Studies and Design as an independent non-profit entity that might qualify for grants and tax exemptions which are not available to us at present.

In the meantime, however, we are still doing business at the same old stand, with very modest success. The trends of history still seem to be moving in our direction, though. But when they will become critical is obscure indeed.

May we hear from you?

Keeping the 'faith',

Walt Fryers.

Re-location: Jerzy Zaborski

1. On 18th Jan. Mr. Zaborski visited this office and advised he will be moving to Phoenix, Arizona, permanently. His new address will be:

Jerzy Zaborski,
Sokrateion University,
Box 2238,
Carefree, AZ. 85331.

2. He expressed his intention of continuing his membership in Technocracy Inc. and will renew his membership from his new location.

3. His original contact with a member of Technocracy was through Nicholas White, at Phoenix, who is now at Los Angeles, I believe. Mr. Zaborski expressed interest in being advised of other members in the Phoenix area. Perhaps you could help him out in this regard.

4. Mr. Zaborski re-iterated his intention of incorporating some of the body of thought of Technocracy in the curriculum of his new university, perhaps as a Chair of Technocratic Studies, or some such. We encouraged him in this idea and volunteered to collaborate if we could be of help. We did not learn much about the nature or extent of this new school, although he indicated that it was doing better since his recent absence. He thought maybe his absence was beneficial!

5. He expects to be back in Edmonton from time to time - perhaps for a week next April - and will be in touch with us.

6. A rather curious footnote may be added. Upon his first sign-up he bought five Monad buttons so he would not have to change buttons every time he changed suits. In the turmoil of his moving around lately he says he cannot find the original five, so he bought a further five. Well, why not?

Salute!

Walt Fryers,
Organizer, 11353.

Subject: Membership Application - Jerzy Zaborski.

1. I enclose MA dated 3 Aug 77 for Jerzy Zaborski. He has held, successively, both Canadian and American citizenship, and will qualify for dual citizenship by virtue of a Canadian law passed in February this year, I am informed.

2. As you will see from the details of the MA, Mr. Zaborski has had an interesting - even remarkable - career. The further details are even more exceptional. He was educated in anthropology at McGill University in Montreal, one of his classmates having been Zbigniew Brzezinski, now national security advisor to President Carter. He has substantial familiarity, both personal and formal, with the present political scene in the U.S. He was an organizer for a political campaign for an unsuccessful candidate for governor of Arizona, the winner being the present governor, Castro. He indicates he is disillusioned with politics. His initial contact with Technocracy was through a wealthy enterpriser in Phoenix.

3. While in Phoenix he founded, in 1970, a university -- the Sokrateion University at Carefree, Arizona - an educational reform institution of conditional success as yet, I understand. Since coming here he h has created a course on Urban Planning for the University of Alberta Dept. of Extension, and has plans to establish an independent unit of the Sokrateion insitution here, with a component of technocratic material included. Needless to say he travels extensively and is widely acquainted with a variety of professional people.

4. As a consulting planner he has been involved with planning projects for provincial and locql governments at Grand Centre and Cold Lake in Alberta, and at Buffalo Narrows in Saskatchewan - localities with which I am familiar; also studies on the eastern slopes of the Rockies in Alberta. He has indicated interest and possible involvement in private real estate promotion and development.

5. Mr. Zaborski - Dr. - Prof. - seems to be a brilliant and diverse person. He is the first brand new member we have signed up since this office opened. If he is indeed the person he seems, we can count in him a solid gain that could lead to other valued contacts.

Salute!

Walt Fryers, Org. 11353.

Subject: Membership application - Boris Wiggers

1. You will find attached the membership application of Boris Wiggers, a 3rd year student here at the U of A. He came by our office yesterday and stayed to join, pick up literature, purchase and wear a Monad.

2. This membership may be something of a "breakthrough". It is the first student we have signed up in about 2 3/4 years of trying. Although an American citizen, he has been in Canada for some 7 years and is planning on dual citizenship. He took his secondary schooling here. He is planning a career in science - a physics-related field.

3. His father is an Exxon executive, currently on loan to one of the tar-sands plants near McMurray, but resident in Edmonton. The family has travelled extensively around the world.

4. This student is energetic and something of an organizer. He thinks he can interest some of his student friend in membership. At this point he is very keen on Technocracy and thinks it should have a presence on the campus. He is fed up with the variety of cults, political groups, philosophical and meditation groups now in evidence. He says this is the first material that makes sense to him.

5. We have been trying to get back into one of the booths at the 'Flea Market' each Friday at the Students Union Building. We had some success there last year for a while but were ruled out because we had another 'outlet' in the city. The executive of the S.U. have relaxed enough to put us at the bottom of the list for getting a booth or table of the 20 odd available. We will be trying for one this week. Of course if we get a student group started, they would have such privileges automatically and many other advantages. We will be giving it a try.

Dear Walt.

Enclosed are payments for November and December. I've dropped in a few times during the day but no-one were there.

I'm going to Europe for 6 weeks as of Nov 2, 1982. I'll try to get in before I go I'm on midnights and I should be able to go to a meeting

I've applied for University for January 1983. If I go I should be able to help out at the office because I'll be right at the "scene of the crime".

Rick.

Receipts mailed, with note,

This is for my yearly dues and 2 pins, which I will pick up when I am off night shift. The rest is the start of my long promised monthly contribution of $10 per month, although this month a lot of my contribution is going for the pins.

With the money I make it would be no problem to keep up this modest contribution.
I'll be dropping in soon.

No bus fares

EDM. JOUR. JAN. 24/81

Bus fares should be eliminated completely. All residents should be taxed directly. If people can afford a car, they can afford a bus system. This will also encourage people to take the bus.

People who complain of this arrangement should look at the benefits of such a plan. Their children could travel free. Service efficiency and over-all costs would be reduced with the elimination of fare boxes, transfers, money storage and bookkeeping of the fares.

That amount should be at least a few per cent, but multiplied by the cost of transit it would be a considerable saving. With the elimination of fares, double doors could be used for on doors as well as off doors, making passenger flow better, saving time as well as money. Elimination of fares would also eliminate one more problem spot for the driver.

So far as other means to control transit costs are concerned, the system should be reformed internally before officials ask for more money or fare increases.

To control fuel costs, why not convert the city's waste to methane, which will run in a diesel engine such as the bus uses plus the motors of other city vehicles? The fuel would be "free" and the pollution far less.

To further cut costs, something should be done to control driver turnover. The training costs of a 35 per cent turnover rate must be large, not only in initial training costs but through the probable increased accident rates of less experienced drivers. As a former driver I know the sense of futility the operator has in communicating any employer/employee relations reform to the management of the union, who seem interested in preserving the problems that exist and seem to prefer not to co-operate with the vast pool of labor that could probably do something, given the chance, about the problems their losses create.

Before people or council OK any increase in bus fare perhaps they should OK the internal reform that is needed to provide a truly efficient and fare-free public service that the city needs and should encourage.

TECHNOCRAT?

State culture and the hungry masses

EDM. JOUR. MAR. 11/81

A few weeks ago the provincial government sent out a pamphlet explaining the costs of the 75th anniversary. From the presentation it seems that the government is boasting of how the money is spent.

Heaven knows why! Does it take two pamphlets to convey their propaganda? Not only did I receive a copy in The Journal but also in a local paper I get free. I believe this is only a small and insignificant example of how the government wastes money, but multiply it by the thousands of other such occurrences of duplicity and outright frivolity and we could just have a major reason for increasing taxes, obvious and hidden.

Let us start with a cost breakdown of the 75 anniversary and see how irresponsible the government has been in its spending habits, especially when considering the many facets of health and social care that could be improved.

Approximately $20 million was spent on culture. I find this obscene and even more obscene when considering that the money spent on senior citizens was only a half-million dollars.

How many people benefit from culture, especially state culture? Russia has it: are Russians content?

Twenty million dollars can be spent for plays, for paintings people may not even want to see, and meanwhile the government cannot cough up enough money to pay nursing home staff a wage that won't cause them to go on strike for ages such as the Parkland Nursing home support staff did, not to mention the nurses, who had to strike, and provincial employees.

Many residents in nursing homes rightly hate the food they are served. Do they care about "culture"?

This is just one of many foolish uses of our tax dollars.

Aren't you glad we have the splendid state institution of Alberta Culture to steal our tax dollars and comfort us with artistic "pleasure" every time Peter the prince raises the price of oil and every time people suffer the economic ruin of outlandish house and rent prices and equally despicable interest rates?

Richard Woodward
Edmonton

Who is so generous to commissioners?

I'd like to express my displeasure in hearing about the city commissioners' raises.

I find it ironic that the people who make a more than adequate wage get the biggest increases in percentage points of any city employees. Also ironic is how it is these same people who haggle with the unions over one percentage point of an offer far smaller than their own increase.

If it weren't so hypocritical, I'd almost congratulate the council members on their cost-saving elitism.

Would The Journal publish the names and occupations of the members of the citizens' committee who first proposed that ridiculous wage increase? I'm sure many curious people would like to see how many people in that committee are clerks, dishwashers, etc. who, with their $3.75 an hour wages, would willingly suggest $70,000 wages for our commissioners.

There is a certain point where enough is enough. The commissioners have reached that point. Now it's time for the city to let some of its less fortunate employees benefit.

Richard Woodward, 4719 40 St., Lloydminster, Sask.

Your note received yesterday.

1. I'm sending under separate cover a Monad button of the bayonet type with the s crew-on base. We also have the pin type preferred by women but used whenever the button type is unsuitable. I use the button type for suits; the pin type for lighter clothing.

2. Glad to hear you have a new job so promptly. I phoned your old number on 5 Oct. (after my wife was out of hosppital, as promised) but found it disconnected. Your note explains the situation. I guess we can forget about that interview. However if you have a chance to air a talk on Technocracy, we have tapes of authorized speakers which could be used. Let us know if you have any use for such and we will send you copies.

3. We have no office in Lloydminster, so anything you can do to stir up a response will be great. We will support you in any way we can. By the way, we hhve a speaker from California - John Taub - coming to Calgary and Edmonton between Nov. 1st and 15th. He may make a diversion to Winnipeg. In any case if he goes through Lloydminster we will advise you. His exact itinerary and speaking dates have not been worked out as yet.

4. And then there is a very staunch member - an old timer - in North Battleford - Louie Kildaw. He comes up here to Edmonton from time to time and you might get a call from him, en route. We will be letting him know you are at Lloydminster.

5. We will also be sending you a selection of literature, including some of the Briefs. You can decide after a trial period, what further items you can use.

6. You will be very busy with your new job and settling in to a new community, so that will be your first priority. My experience is that the smaller centers are more conservative and homogenous than the bigger cities. However, if you do find a response to tactful overtures, keep us in the picture; perhaps we can help. We are finding an increasing receptivity here at the university - but as yet little membership response. However wewill be trying to organize a registered student club in connection with Taub's visit. Our booth at the Flea Market in Students' Union Bldg. every Friday is getting good interest.

Dear Mr. Fryer,

Enclosed is $2.00 for a pin. It took me a while to ask for one but now I have.

I got a job in Lloydminster as an announcer. That is why we never had our interview, I got a job too fast.

Is there an office here for Technocracy? If not, you could forward some introduction sheets to me and I'll hand them out to interested parties. 25-50 sheets would probably be enough.

Thank-you for your consideration and co-operation in this matter.

Your note of 28th Jan 78.

1. I enclose a copy of the pamphlet "Energy Certificate" which you request and for which you remitted 15¢ in full payment.

2. I am also enclosing a set of Briefs, for which there is no charge.

3. Our principal and most complete publication is: "Technocracy, Technological Social Design", which is available for the nominal price of $1.00. It is a 75 page presentation of the most significant portion of the body of thought which is Technocracy. This would serve as an initial home study course.

4. There are several other publications which would probably interest you, for which there are nominal charges of ten or fifteen cents. And there are also three magazines which publish alternate issues in order to achieve monthly publication. They are available at $6.00 per year.

5. We welcome new members, and we certainly can do with the help that a larger membership would provide. We regard it as very important to make Technocracy visible and accessible at this time.

6. This office, which is in the HUB Mall of the University of Alberta, is normally open on weekday afternoons, or other times upon request or for scheduled events such as study classes, membership meetings and public meetings. Our phone number is 434-0344. My home phone is 434 4496. We would be pleased to hear from you.
